

HOLD FOR RELEASE UNTIL MAY 8, 2021:

Emerging author, Alejandrina Aragon, publishes an eerie Flash Fiction collection of Horror/Suspense titled Tainted Terrors through Smashwords.com.

Now Available for Review

San Diego, California - April 28, 2019 - Emerging author turns night terrors into art in a short e-book collection of Flash Fiction Horror/Suspense, available for purchase exclusively through smashwords.com where the customer determines the price.

37-year-old Alejandrina Aragon has suffered from night terrors since the age of 8. Inspired by the great "Stephen King," she used them to her advantage, as a creative/therapeutic outlet by incorporating them into her passion for the craft of story-telling.

Follow Amanda and her kid brother as they explore an abandoned asylum. After tragedy strikes, she risks her life in an unexpected paranormal battle to protect, "The Promise", she's sworn to keep.

In a suspenseful midflight attack, a mysterious man takes a young stewardess as, "The Hostage." Terrified, yet eager to guarantee the safety of the passengers and crew, she works diligently to fulfill his every demand.

A young woman is binge-watching her favorite show when she's interrupted by a knock on the door. She wasn't anticipating a "Sunday Funday Delivery," since mail doesn't run on Sunday's but she loves a pleasant surprise. It's unfortunate that not all surprises are pleasant.

Smashwords.com is the world's largest publisher of indie e-books. They allow authors to publish and distribute e-books to the industry's major retailers, as well as provide e-books in a wide variety of digital formats.

Alejandrina Aragon is a freelance journalist/reviewer with an emphasis on Screenwriting in the horror genre. Publications include feature interviews and movie reviews in, The G.O.O.D.S. Magazine, and StrangeTimesUSA.com, where she blogged enthusiastically about the paranormal.

Alejandrina is earning a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Creative Writing Degree at Full Sail University. While attending Full Sail University, Alejandrina was nominated and honored for exceptional academic achievements through The National Society of Collegiate Scholars.

Alejandrina allows creativity to flow freely, as she believes it fuels her essence and fulfills her purpose. She has an extreme love and appreciation for nature which she pays homage to with camping, horseback and dirt bike riding. Alejandrina is also enamored with music and pays tribute by listening to classical music and playing guitar. She admits these outlets are significant creative muses.

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/alejandrina-aragon-b8624b88/>

Contact:

Alejandrina Aragon

avaragon81@gmail.com

4 Sunset Pt.

Alpine, CA 91901

Ph: 619-333-9774

###